

These observations suggest that the excellent local game store Eudemonia might be a good place to search for clues in cultural artifacts. Proceed there (2154 University Ave near Oxford St). If you get there before the store opens: congratulations, you're doing great! Find the UDC agent outside. Otherwise, find the UDC agent inside.

Course of Infection

Victims of the infection remain recognizably humanoid. However, as the infection moves through the system, it subtly alters certain parts: something grows, something decays. By studying this progression, examining the victim from head to toe, we hope to learn how best to measure the difference to affected cells.
